A regular focus of teaching and learning at Gooloogong Public School is the whole-school emphasis where older students work with and guide the young as if they are their own siblings.

Gooloogong Public School offers a unique small school educational environment with big school technology and teaching experience thoughtfully integrated into all learning programs.

We’re small enough to care for our students and their families, but big on providing quality inclusive and relevant learning experiences.

✔ Composite classes encourage children to learn to work alongside each other as individuals as well as to support and help each other as peers.

✔ Paced, staged, individualised learning in all key learning areas.

✔ Small numbers mean that the children are able to play together in large, multi-aged groups with the older children often demonstrating a caring, protective role towards the younger children.

✔ Regular and ongoing interaction with other schools through visits and video conferencing facilities.

✔ Individuality is recognised and catered for with links to local high school and primary schools programs.

✔ Teachers use positives in classroom dynamics to enhance learning experiences and are part of the small schools network. Staff and students benefit from membership of the Small Schools Network.

✔ Great up-to-date resources

Social and learning interactions between all age groups and community members encourage positive friendships, leadership and growth in all areas.
